Not illustrated. 1893 Excerpt: .from the Gloria in Excelsis, as hymned by the angels on that first Christmas at Bethlehem, to the closing scenes of Calvary and the Ascension. Each of them will then become a living, breathing poem, replete with lessons of love and holiness for life, death, and eternity. All these and other truths of our holy faith can be illustrated by incidents from daily life, making the impression still more Yol. Lvi.-- 45 vivid. Its doctrines thus revealed as vital, practical truths must lead to lives of virtue. The very stir and unrest in religious matters to-day is a good sign; it betokens an awakening to a truer sense of our position as Catholic Christians; that we are not such because of our aacestry, but from actual conviction of the truth; and if not the better Christians for this God-given faith, it is high time we were! Catholic women, your ability and the needed opportunity for its outlet are not wanting; therefore do we the more earnestly herald and defend your cause, simply because by the very pressure laid upon us we cannot hold our peace. Seeing wrong that must be righted, suffering pleading for relief, perhaps affecting your own flesh and blood, you, too, will be no longer silent. With others of your sex throughout the world, inflamed by the one desire of woman s advancement, you will seek and find this boon, through an education giving full scope to the powers of mind, to the better...
